

SEUR optimizes its services for the shipment of dangerous goods in limited quantities in the B2B and B2C segments

The company reinforces its value proposition and operational capacity with new specific solutions for sectors such as cosmetics, automotive, electronics, and pharmacy, confirming safety and regulatory compliance with national and international coverage

Madrid, May 18, 2026. SEUR, a leading company in express transport, has carried out an improvement and update of its LQ (Limited Quantities) services aimed at B2B and B2C customers, a specialized solution for the shipment of dangerous goods in limited quantities that consolidates its positioning as an integral transport partner for different sectors.

These new developments optimize the transport of products with a dangerous component under the limited quantities regime, complying with the Agreement concerning the International Carriage of Dangerous Goods by Road (ADR) and raising safety standards in all phases of the shipment, from collection to delivery.

With this new proposal, SEUR expands its operational capabilities to respond to key sectors such as cosmetics, technology, and chemicals, which require specific transport solutions for products like aerosols, batteries, perfumes, paints, or chemical products. This service strengthens merchandise traceability and internal control, as SEUR knows at all times what type of product it is transporting and can apply the appropriate protocols at each stage of the shipment. This visibility also contributes to the prevention of operational incidents by reducing rejections, blockages, and re-processing throughout the logistics chain.

SEUR's LQ services are designed to offer both national and international coverage, with road shipments in Spain and Portugal and connection to the Geopost European network, allowing companies to operate with greater flexibility and reach.

Furthermore, the company reaffirms its full commitment to complying with the regulations set by the Agreement concerning the International Carriage of Dangerous Goods by Road (ADR) for this type of merchandise, including identification, packaging, and documentation processes, with the aim of ensuring maximum safety throughout the journey.

Among the main features of the service, the possibility of making shipments of up to 30 kg between companies or to private homes in mainland Spain and Europe stands out. Likewise, the ease of integration between client systems and SEUR's own systems, as well as the capacity for traceability and identification of the transported goods, are key highlights.

With this improvement in the excellence of its operations, SEUR takes another step in its diversification and specialization strategy in the B2B segment, while improving the B2C customer experience with secure, efficient solutions adapted to new market demands.

About SEUR

Our more than 80 years of history have allowed us to be pioneers in express transport in Spain, with three major business lines: international, e-commerce and B2B business.

Thanks to our more than 10,000 professionals and our fleet of 6,500 vehicles, we provide service to companies of all sizes and sectors and, as part of Geopost, one of the largest international express transport networks, we deliver worldwide.

We constantly invest in innovation and infrastructure to be closer to our customers and offer them greater flexibility through solutions such as Predict, an interactive system to arrange delivery, or SEUR Now, for super-urgent deliveries in one or two hours. We are committed to sustainable logistics with the integration of alternative delivery systems in large cities such as the use of ecological vehicles, urban hubs or our network of Pickup points with more than 10,000 points, including convenience stores and lockers.

Shipments are not possible to the Canary Islands, Balearic Islands, Ceuta, Melilla, United Kingdom, Ireland, Greece, Bosnia, Serbia, Norway, Sweden, Finland, and Denmark.*
